

A LAUREL FOR LORETO

A poem, a verse-play, and a short story written by Somoshree Palit, a Second-Year student of the Department of English, Loreto College, was accepted for publication in Euphemism: Issue 17.1, the literary and creative arts journal of Illinois State University, USA. Ms. Palit was also given an ‘Author’s Spotlight’ on the social media pages of the journal. She was invited to the University to present her works “Endymion,” “O Holy Night,” and “The Eyes of Truth” at the launch party of the magazine on December 3, 2021, which she attended virtually on Zoom. “It feels beautiful to read her works and listen to her from across the world,” said Ms. Kelley White, a contributor to Euphemism.

The links to the works:

POEM:

<https://english.illinoisstate.edu/euphemism/17-1/edymion-a-response-to-the-shield-of-achielles-by-w-h-auden/>

PLAY:

<https://english.illinoisstate.edu/euphemism/17-1/o-holy-night/>

FICTION:

<https://english.illinoisstate.edu/euphemism/17-1/the-eyes-of-truth/>

TABLE OF CONTENTS:

<https://english.illinoisstate.edu/euphemism/17-1/poetry/>

<https://english.illinoisstate.edu/euphemism/17-1/fiction/>